

INDUSTRY 4.0: EXPRIVIA RECEIVES THE 'APULIAN EXCELLENCE' AWARD AT THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

President and CEO Domenico Favuzzi collects an award from the Sinergitaly Association and the Parliamentary Intergroup 'Care of the Common House'.

21 November 2019 - Exprivia received the 'Apulian excellence' award at the Chamber of Deputies, on the occasion of the presentation of the new edition of MECSPE (the reference fair for the manufacturing industry) - the leading annual Italian manufacturing 4.0 event - which this year will be held in Bari from 28 to 30 November 2019 at the Fiera del Levante trade fair. The award was presented to the President and CEO of Exprivia Domenico Favuzzi by the Sinergitaly Association, which promotes Italian excellence worldwide, and the parliamentary intergroup 'Care of the Common House: Sustainable and integral development of communities for a human vision' represented by the Hon.

The 'Industry 4.0 between innovation and digital technology' event was held in the Press Room of the Chamber of Deputies, in the presence of the Minister of Technological Innovation, Paola Pisano, the Deputy Minister of Economic Development, Stefano Buffagni, and the Undersecretary of the Ministry of Economic Development, Mirella Liuzzi.

Exprivia, an Apulian firm based in Molfetta (BA), the only company in the region listed on the Stock Exchange, is one of a number of Italian companies that have excelled in the field of Technology and Innovation with a varied offer in different market segments. Its model is one that can make Italy increasingly competitive in the processes of digital transformation.

'We are very grateful - said Domenico Favuzzi, President and CEO of Exprivia - to Synergitaly and the interparliamentary group 'Care of the Common Home' for recognising our excellence and the effort we are making as a company to take our solutions and expertise abroad. Today, Exprivia makes a significant contribution to our country's digital innovation and the promotion of innovative Italian and Apulian-made technologies abroad. It does so through its constant commitment to research and development and a model open to the external contamination of ideas and skills from start-ups and research centres with an eye to Open Innovation and the positive contamination of local areas'.
